

Delta Douane becomes ALS Douane France

18 December 2020

On 1 January 2021, Delta Douane, the specialist in customs consulting, changes its name to ALS Douane France. This completes the merger process begun in 2018 with ALS Customs Services, a German customs expertise company with an integrated network in twenty European countries.

Created in 1999, Delta Douane is a company specialising in consulting and international customs operations. In 2018, it became part of the German company ALS Customs Services, of which it had been a partner on the French market for several years. Present in France with four agencies in Angers, Lille, Lyon and Rouen, it is now part of a pan-European network established in twenty countries. It is an AEO (Authorised Economic Operator) for Customs and is also ISO 9001 certified. A few weeks before the end of the transition period linked to Brexit, ALS Douane France offers an integrated solution on both sides of the Channel for all customs and tax formalities linked to trade between the United Kingdom and the European Union.

With this new name, we are completing our full integration into the pan-European network of ALS Customs Services," says Fabrice Raymond, Managing Director of ALS Douane France. Within the operational framework of the new EU Customs Code and with Brexit, the strength of the network reinforces our internationally recognised technical expertise. It will benefit all ALS clients. »
